

Ronald Edmonds Learning Center
2021-2022
Social Studies Grading Policy

40% FORMATIVE ASSESSMENTS

Formative Assessments focus on the process toward completing a product and provide feedback and information during the instructional process.

Examples:

- Classwork
- On-demand writing, summaries
- DBQ's and close reading questions
- Daily wrap-ups
- Student discussions
- Reading logs/responses
- Pair and group work
- Observations during in-class activities
- Reading/writing conferences
- Peer feedback and self-reflections
- Drafts of essays submitted throughout the writing process
- Project phases submitted at various completion points

25% TESTS

Summative Assessments are product-oriented and assess the final product and are typically given at the end of a set point during or at the end of a marking period to assess what has been learned and how well it was learned, based on learning standards-aligned rubrics.

Examples:

- Unit Assessments
- Final Drafts of essays
- NYC Social Studies Performance Assessments (MOSL)

25% PROJECTS

Summative Assessments are product-oriented and assess the final product and are typically given at the end of a set point during or at the end of a marking period to assess what has been learned and how well it was learned, based on learning standards-aligned rubrics.

Examples:

- Performances
- Presentations
- Culminating student discussions or debates
- End of unit projects or long-term assignments

10% HOMEWORK- Nightly or weekly short assignments completed at home that reinforce the skills taught in class